PRESENTING THE BALFE
OUR GREATEST MASTERPIECE TO DATE

For most homeowners having a bespoke aquatic environment built, especially one that includes luxurious extras in the form of a spacious beach entry, swim-up bar and waterfall complete with slide and secret grotto, is usually one of those once-in-a-lifetime experiences. Our most recent addition to the Symphony Collection is just such a dream come true.

Inspired by the exuberance and untamed passion of the Irish composer, M.W. Balfe, the finished piece may resemble a wet and wild wonderland of rocky nature at first, but glance behind the perfect balance of technology and ecology and over a century of ingenuity and unmatched artistry quickly comes into view.

FROM LIFELESS PLOT TO LUSH AQUATIC PARADISE

With a blank canvas measuring well over 110 feet long x 36 feet wide, our design team set to work to transform a prime piece of real estate in the Lake Cumberland region of Southern Kentucky into a lush private retreat. Having full creative carte blanche (and knowing our client was no stranger to luxury outdoor spaces) a moody sunrise-sunset fog system and Fiber-optic underwater lighting seemed like an inspired place to start.

Naturally, the essentials like an elegant, eco-friendly pool design, automatic cleaning system, and polished pebble interior were already included, but in all honesty, we did not see the speed slide coming... Luckily, with 5 17-foot expertly crafted cascading waterfalls to choose from, our design team managed to carve out a 40-foot high-speed super tube any resort would be happy to claim as their own.

Hiding beneath over 6,500 square feet of simulated granite slabs, spires and cliff-face rock, a sculpted limestone cavern snakes around a swim-up bar and leads to the world's first fire Majilis; aka a cozy spot around a blazing bonfire reserved for VIP BFF's only. A full service outdoor kitchen, personalized travertine decking, and hand-sculpted limestone stalactites complete this fairy tale landscape. As far as opulent designer swimming pools and exotic outdoor spaces go, The Balfe has set a new standard in engineering, construction, and craftsmanship.
